LAST GAME OF THE SERIES.

The New Yorks Will Now Pack Up for Their First Eastern Trip.

CONNOR GETS IN A HOMER.

New York . Washington

(SPECIAL TO THE TWENING WORLD.) St. George, S. L. May 2.—The last game of the present Washington series and the last for the Giants on their home grounds for nearly two weeks was begun to-day in the presence of a crowd numbering far less than any assembled at any preceding League game this season. To-night the Giants leave for Philadelphia.

and thence, after a series with the Quakers, they go to Boston, returning home again on May 13. On that day the Clevelands play here, and Manager Mutrie intends to celebrate.

The grounds will be handsomely decorated and put in much better general shape than has been possible with games going on each after

The Seventh Regiment Band will furnish the nusic required. Tickets of invitation are to be issued to a multitude of prominent people, and altogether Manager "Jeems" promises to make the event a memorable one.

Concerning the smallness of the attendance to-day, perhaps yesterday's fiasco had some-thing to do with it, but it is more likely that the neagreness of the crowd was due to the recent holidays and the consequent weariness of the more sportive Gothamites. To-day Washington presented a new catcher.

Clark by name, who was booked to receive O'Day's pitching.
Welch and Ewing were in the points for the Giants. The weather was warm, clouds numerous and sunbeams

Washington took the field again.

First Inning—O'Day began operations sometains after the order of young Reefe in yesterday's game.

He sent Gore to first on balls and after the runner had stolen second on a passed ball, O'Rourke was size presented with a base.

Then Tiernan and Connor were retired on flies to Hoy and Wiss respectively.

Ewing came to the rescue with a scorching drive to left for three bases, bringing home both Gore and O'Rourke.

Ward's out at first left "Buck" on third, Two runs.

Ward's out at first left 'Buck' on unitd. I we runs.

Hoy led off with a safe hit past second, went to second on a passed ball, and a wild throw by Ewing allowed him to take third.

Four balls gave Shoch first.

Wise hit a sharp grounder to Connor, who threw to second in time to force out Shoch; but Hoy scored on Richardson's useless return of the ball to Connor.

Mickey Welch then sent Myers to first on balls, advancing Wise to second. The latter took third on a low throw of Ewing to catch him napping.

Mickey Weich then sent myers to first on balls, advancing Wise to second. The latter took third on a low throw of Ewing to eateh him napping.

Morrill got first on balls, and the bases were full when Carney came to bat.

He was no Casey, but his fly out to Tiernan was as productive of runs as a strike out.

Sweeney did better. He hit safely to right, and both Wise and Myers scored.

Morrill took third said Sweeney went to second on the throw in. Clark went out, Weich to Connor. Three runs.

Second Inning.—Sweeney and Morrill retired Richardson. Whitney struck out.

Welch got first on Wise's fumble, but Gore's out at first, on Myers's assist, retired the side. No runs.

Welch took great satisfaction in fielding O'Day's bounder to first. Whitney's bad throw was responsible for Hov's gaining first. Ewing squeezed Shoch's foul fly.

Wise got first on balls and Hoy took second. When two strikes had been called on Myers, a a quick throw by Ewing to Connor and a series of passes between the latter, Whitney and Ward resulted in Hoy's out midway between second and third. No runs.

Third Inning.—O'Bourke's grounder to Sweeney cause d his out and a brilliant stop by Morrill retired Tiernan.

Connor planted a clean two-bagger between left and centre, and stole third, assisted by a passed ball. A wild pitch followed, and Connor crossed the piste with the tying run.

Ewing reached first on balls, but was caught stealing second. One runs.

Ward assisted Myers out at first first and Gore prevented Morrill's fly from touching earth. Weich and Connor disposed of Carney. No runs.

Fourth Inning.—Wise made a pretty catch of Yard's fly and Hichardson was a close out from Fourth Inning—Wise made a pretty catch of Ward's fly and Richardson was a close out from Myers to Morrill.

Whitney lined a baser to centre, went clear to third on a wild pitch.

Another wild one, and Whitney scored.

Welch, who is fast becoming the greatest hitter of modern times, banged a clean-cut base hit to left.

Clark hurt his finger, and Mack was substituted.

Clark hurt his finger, and Mack was substituted.

O'Rourke lifted a long and lofty fly in far centre. Hoy turned and ran quickly for it and succeeded in getting his hands on the ball; but he couldn't coax the whirling sphere to stay with him, and as it dropped to the ground.

Welch and Gore scored and O'Rourke placed himself on second.
Tiernan got first on balls, but Connor went out on a bounder to Morrill. Three runs.
Buck Ewing delighted the crowd by making a phenomenal one-handed catch of a foul fif from Bweeney's bat.
Mack was assisted out at first by Richardson.
Then Ward made a laughable fumble of O'Day's grounder, and the runner reached first. Hoy's grounder was cared for by Richardson. No runs.

Fifth Inning—O'Day helped Ewing out at first. Ward biffed a grounder between Myer's underpinnings and reached first.

He stole second and third, sided in both cases by dropped halls. Richard-on filed out to Carney and Whitney to Hoy. No runs, Shoch led off with a pretty single to left, but was caught easily in the attempt to sneak to second.

Sixth Inning—Welch was retired at first. Gore corked a base hit to centre, but was forced at second by O'Rourke's grounder to Wise.

Sir James purioined bag No. 2. Tiernan was an easy out at first. No runs.

Morrill slammed a single to left, and Carney lifted one over into the same territory, John taking second.

A low throw to second advanced the runners a base each.

Sweeney made a long fly out to Gore, but the latter, by a splendid throw home, held Morrill at third.

Mack fouled out to Ewing, and a pretty play by litchardson caused O'Day's out at first. No runs.

by Richardson caused O Day's outstanding runs.

Seventh Inning—Counor did what every one has been expecting he would do since the beginning of the season here.

He knocked the ball over the centre-field fence and scored a home run.

Ewing banged one up against the fence also, but it didn't go over. It yielded two bags and he immediately stole third.

Carney made a pretty catch of Ward's fly in short centre.

OANLAND PARK, JERSEY CITY, May 2.—Nine young men from the capital of the Nutmeg State faced the Jersey City team on the latter' grounds here to-day.

Only about five hundred people greeted the two teams, though a fine game was expected.

Hartford has a very strong nine, and Jersey City's boys are not to be sneezed at. The weather was cloudy and cool, but excellent for fine playing.

VISNER'S PRETTY HOME RUN.

Athletics . Brooklyn .

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, I Washington Park, Brookley, May 2.— Brooklynites turned out in grand style this afternoon to give their bail-players a good send off in the opening of the second series of games with their old adversaries the Athletics.

Manager Byrne's Bridegrooms didn't have much luck in their first series at the Quaker City, when they lost three out of the four games played, but they had blood in their eyes to-day, when they tackled them for the second time, and Capt. Darby O'Brien expressed a determination to make it " three straight for home."

The weather was cloudy, and a chilling wind didn't add to the comfort of the thousands of spectators.

The ground, however, was in the best condition possible.

These were the players: ATRLETIC.

curves and the latter let him reach his base on balls.

Stovey's grounder to Burns was neatly stopped and put to first, but on the play Welch reached third.

Lyons popped to right and was caught out after a fine run by Visner. Larkin's hot grounder was fumb.ed by Collins, and Welch scored on Stovey's sacrifice.

Bauer was given his first on balls and Purcell hit a sky-scraper which was captured by Corkhill. One run.

Pinknev took his base on balls. O'Brien filed out to Larkin and Collins sent a hot one down second, which forced Pinkney out, but gave him a life. He made a steal to third on a passed ball, but Burns struck out and finished the inning. No runs, Second Inning—The visitors were treated to some sharp play and no one made a base. Fennelly popped a fit to Fouts and Cross did the same for Terry.

Weyning caught nothing but the west wind with his bat. No runs.

Fouts's liner was cleverly stopped by Bauer.

same for Terry.

Weyhing caught nothing but the west wind with his bat. No runs.

Fours's liner was eleverly stopped by Bauer.
Visner got his base on balls and did some good running, gesting around to third on Corkhill's sacrifice and a passed ball.

He then kept up a lively dancing, but it was of no use, Clark's long fly being taken by Welch. No runs.

Third Inning—Welch popped an easy one to Collins.

Stovey and Lyons both struck out, and the bleaching-boards responded in fine style with yells and hand clapping. No runs.

Terry led off in the second half with a good safe hit in right centre and took second on a wild pitch by Weyhing, and third on Finkney's sacretice.

O'Brien then went to the bat and sent the leather spinning out towards centre field, reaching his base in safety and sending Terry home.

Collins died at first, but Burns kept up the circus with another liner to right field, which Purcell fumbled, and thus let in O'Brien to the wild cheering of the 3,000 spectators.

Fourth Inning—This inning was opened with a dandy one-hand stop of Larkin's hot grounder to first by Foutz, who was loudly cheered. Bauer then hit for two bases and Purcell repeated the dose, Bauer scoring.

Purcell stois third, but was left there, Fennelly striking out, and Cross's attempt to bring him in being prettily blocked by Terry. One run.

There was joy in the Brooklyn camp when Visner calmly lifted the ball away out of sight among the carriages in centre Bald. He had crossed the plate before Welch got it.

The crowd hadn't done cheering when Corkhill sent the isather over Stovey's head for two bases.

Clark was thrown out at first by Weyhing, but

He Is Now in Bellevue with a Broken Leg and Other Injuries.

Henry V. The Rosenbaums, consisting of Henry, the head of the family; Mrs. Rosenbaum and thetr three small children, live in the first flat of 529 East Eighty-fourth street. A large, square areaway is directly under their front windows. It is paved with large Mr. Rosenbaum sleeps on a cot in the rear of the front parlor, while Mrs. Rosenbaum shares bed with her daughter Josie, aged six years, dows with long strips of bunting in honor of the Centennial, and before retiring last night they closed the inside shutters and placed a chair against the window to keep the shades closed.

About 2.30 celock this morning Mrs. Rosenbaum was awakened by a rattling at the front windows. She sat upright in bed, and on looking through the open door discovered the form of a man in the window. At first she thought it was her husband, but the snoring which proceeded from the direction of the cot convinced her that she was mistaken.

Then it flashed across her mind that it was a burgiar. She called to her husband and he awoke with a start. He took in the situation at a glance and made a spring for the introder.

The gas had been turned up, and the burglar, who had just succeeded in getting one foot across the window-sill and on the bottom of the chair, started to retreat.

Mr. Rosenbaum seized and grappled with the man, and by a well-directed blow caught him source under the chin.

The burglar fell but jumped up again and made a spring to escarse.

He dashed through the window and struck the stone areaway fifteen feet below. He fell on his side and began to groan with pain.

There were loud calls for a policeman, but nonerresponded until some minutes later. The burglar said he lived in the neighborhood and had made a mistake in the house. He accounted for the unusual method of entering the house by saying he had lost his key.

He said his name was Henry Hoppuer, thirty-six years old, and gave several different addresses, but they all proved fictitious. When taken to Bellevue Hospital it was found he had fractured his leg and arm and had other internal injuries.

at once discovered that the Post-Office had been robbed.

The iron shutters had been pried open, and two large holes, an inch each in diameter, were bored through the wooden door for the purpose of springing the latch.

Through a panel in the door a hole had been cus large enough to permit an arm to pass through and pull back an iron cross-bar.

Having gained admission to the place, the robbers, evidently professionals, had proceeded to ransack the office.

Drawers in the money order and stamp department were broken open and the locks demolished, and registered envelopes, letters, papers, dc. were strewn promiscuously about the place.

papers, &c.. were strewn promiscuously about the place.
The door of the huge safe was drilled open and the combination lock shattered into fragments.
The inner vault, which contained a large amount of money and Government securities, remained intact, and it is supposed that the robbers were frightened away before completing their work.
The amount of plunder secured by the robbers cannot yet be estimated.
The private watchman who guards the office at night can give no account of the robbery. The Government officials at Washington have been notified.
The Plainfield Post-Office was burglarized in much the same way several months ago, and stamps and registered letters were then carried off.
